

Emergency department staff attitudes towards people who self-harm and the influences of norms on behaviour.

Laura Artis

May 2012

Supervisor: Dr Joanne. R. Smith
Senior Lecturer
College of Life and Environmental Sciences
University of Exeter

Field Collaborator: Jennifer Scarff
Nurse Practitioner
Emergency Department

Target Journal: Advanced Emergency Nursing Journal

Research Setting: Emergency Department

Literature review word count: 3986

Research paper word count: 7878

Expanded appendices word count: 3196

Submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Doctorate in Clinical Psychology degree, University of Exeter

Statement of academic probity and professional practice:

“I certify that all material in this assignment which is not my own work has been identified and properly attributed. I have conducted the work in line with the BPS DCP Professional Practice Guidelines.”

Laura Artis

Acknowledgements

I would like to thank my research supervisor, Joanne Smith, for all her support, inspiration and time.

Thanks also go out to Jennifer Scarff for her help with the co-ordination of interviews, and Tess Drabble for her support and agreement to allow this project to be conducted with ease – without your support, this project would have been ten times more difficult.

Finally, I would like to thank all of the participants who provided a wealth of information. Thank you for your involvement; for taking the time out to be interviewed and allowing me to record your thoughts and experiences.

Thank you all.

Contents

Chapter One – Literature Review

Abstract	2
Background	3
Review of literature on attitudes towards self-harm	3
Search Strategy and Inclusion Criteria	3
Quantitative Research	5
Methodological considerations	7
Qualitative Research	8
Methodological considerations	9
Literature Review: Attitudes and Knowledge of Self-harm	11
Methodological Considerations	12
Limitations and Summary of this Review	12
Norms, Pluralistic Ignorance and Social Identity	13
Summary and Linking of Themes	14
Recommendations for Future Research	16
References	17

Chapter Two – Research Article

Abstract	23
Introduction	24
Background	24
Staff Attitudes Towards Self-harm	24
Social Norms	27
Norm Misperceptions and Pluralistic Ignorance	28
The Importance of Identity	29
Fluid Teams	30

MAJOR RESEARCH PROJECT

Linking Theory and Practice	31
Gaps in the Research	31
Aims and Hypotheses	32
Methods	32
Participants	32
Recruitment	33
Design and Procedure	33
Ethics	35
Analysis	35
Researcher Position	37
Results	38
Balancing Difference and Diversity	39
Beliefs about Self-harm	39
Attitudes and Behaviours	41
Influences on Behaviour	43
Identity, Culture and Role	47
Discussion	49
Aims of the Research	49
Summary of the Main Themes	49
Theoretical Implications	50
Clinical Implications and Recommendations	53
Limitations of the Current Research	55
Directions for Future Research	56
Conclusion	56
References	58
Appendix	63
Appendix 1: Instructions for Authors	63

Chapter Three – Expanded Appendices

Appendix 1: Expanded Introduction	70
More on Norms	70
Appendix 2: Expanded Method	71
a. Recruitment	71
b. Participant information sheet and consent form
c. Interview schedule	78
d. Pilot interviews	79
e. Interview technique	79
f. Ethical considerations and documents	79
g. Validation of analysis	87
h. Researcher position	87
Appendix 3: Expanded Results	90
Familiarisation	90
Identifying a Thematic Framework	94
Indexing	95
Charting	96
Mapping and Interpretation	98
Appendix 4: Expanded Discussion	99
a. Theoretical Implications	99
b. Clinical Implications	100
c. Limitations	101
d. Directions for Future Research	102
References	103
Dissemination Statement	106