ART UNION.—TO PRINTSELLERS, GILDERS, &c.

C. F. BIELEFELD.

Having obtained Her Majesty’s Royal Letters Patent for manufacturing PICTURE FRAMES by machinery, begs to announce that he has prepared several specimens expressly for the Art Union print Jephthah’s Daughter, which may be inspected at the manufactury. They may be had finished in gold, or imitation of bronze, bronze, &c., at from 7s. 6d. and upwards, and although the prices have been reduced less than half the cost of plate wood frames of corresponding sizes and sections, yet the materials and workmanship are of the very highest character, while in the execution of the design will be found that delicacy and uniformity which result from machinery alone, and defy all imitation. A sheet of designs, with prices, sent by post on application, enclosing the post-office stamp.—Paper Mache, Works, 1a, Wellington-street north, Strand.

STOOPING OF THE SHOULDERS & CONTRACTION OF THE CHEST

Are entirely prevented, and greatly and effectually removed in Youth, and Ladies and Gentlemen, by the occasional use of the IMPROVED ELASTIC CHEST EXPANDER, which is light, simple, easily applied, either above or beneath the dress, and worn without any uncomfortable constraint or impediment to exercise. To Young Persons especially it is highly beneficial, immediately producing an evident IMPROVEMENT in the FIGURE, and tending greatly to prevent the incursion of PULMONARY DISEASES, whilst it inculcates and infuses much engaged in sedentary pursuits, such as Reading or Studying, Working, Drawing, or Music. It is found to be invaluable, as it expands the chest and affords a great support to the back. It is made in Silk; and can be forwarded, per post, by MR. ALFRED HINSON, Sole Manufacturer and Proprietor, No. 49, Povillock Street, Covent Garden, London; or full particulars, with Prices and Mode of Measurement, on receipt of a Postage Stamp.

CLARKE’S PATENT MORTAR LAMPS & LAMP MORTARS.

These incomparable night lamps are now manufactured in beautifully plated, coloured, and painted glass, and in paper maché, which, with the great improvements that have been made in the Lamp Mortars, render them, without exception, the most elegant and perfect night light ever invented. Price of lamps, 1s. 6d. and upwards; Mortars 7d. per box, double boxes 1s. 6d. each. Clarke’s Patent Nursery Lamps.—This Lamp bums the patent lamp mortars, and will be found invaluable, not only in the nursery but in the bachelor’s room. It will keep hot a quart of water or a pint of food and part of water, at an expense of one halfpenny for six hours, besides serving as an excellent night light. It is entirely free from smell or smoke, and may be carried about with perfect safety.—May be obtained retail from most respectable ironmongers, grocers, and clerks in the Kingdom; and wholesale at the Patent Lamp Manufactory, 56, Albany Street, Regent’s Park.

CHUBB’S LOCKS AND FIREPROOF SAFE.—CHUBB’S New Patent Detector Locks give perfect security from false Keys, and also detect any attempt to open them.

CHUBB’S Patent Fireproof Safes and Boxes are the best preservatives of deeds, books, papers, &c., from fire and thieves.

Cash Boxes, and James Bond Boxes, Street Door Latches with very neat Keys.

CHAPTER XLVI.

RECOGNIZANT AND REFLECTIVE.

Among sundry minor alterations in Mr. Carker’s life and habits that began to take place at this time, none was more remarkable than the extraordinary diligence with which he applied himself to business, and the close-ness with which he investigated every detail that the affairs of the House laid open to him. Always active and penetrating in such matters, his lynx-eyed vigilance now increased twenty-fold. Not only did his wary watch keep pace with every present point that every day presented to him in some new form, but in the midst of these engrossing occupations he found leisure—that is, he made it—to review the past transactions of the Firm, and his share in them, during a long series of years. Frequently when the clerks were all gone, the offices dark and empty, and all similar places of business shut up, Mr. Carker, with the whole anatomy of the iron room laid bare before him, would explore the mysteries of books and papers, with the patient progress of a man who was dissecting the minutest nerves and fibres of his subject. Porch, the messenger, who usually remained on these occasions, to entertain himself with the perusal of the Price Current by the light of one candle, or to doze over the fire in the outer office, at the imminent risk every moment of diving head foremost into the coal box, could not withhold the tribute of his admiration from this zealous conduct, although it much contracted his domestic enjoyments; and again, and again, expatiated to Mrs. Porch (now nursing twins) on the industry and acuteness of their managing gentleman in the City.

The same increased and sharp attention that Mr. Carker bestowed on the business of the House, he applied to his own personal affairs. Though not a partner in the concern—a distinction hitherto reserved solely to inheritors of the great name of Dombey—he was in the receipt of some per centage on its dealings; and, participating in all its facilities for the employment of money to advantage, was considered, by the minnows among the tritons of the East, a rich man. It began to be said, among these shrewd observers, that Jim Carker, of Dombey’s, was looking about him to see what he was worth; and that he was calling in his money at a good time, like the long-headed fellow he was; and bets were even offered on the Stock Exchange that Jim was going to marry a rich widow.

Yet these cares did not in the least interfere with Mr. Carker’s watching of his chief, or with his cleanliness, neatness, sleekness, or any cat-like quality he possessed. It was not so much that there was a change in him, in reference to any of his habits, as that the whole man was intensified. Everything that had been observable in him before, was observable now, but with a greater amount of concentration. He did each single thing, as if he did nothing else—a pretty certain indication in a man of that range of ability and purpose, that he is doing something which sharpens and keeps alive his keenest powers.
