Title:

Cognitive Behavioural Therapies for Social Anxiety Disorder (SAnD) Review

Submitted as part fulfilment of the requirements of the qualification of the Doctorate in Clinical Psychology from the School of Psychology, University of Exeter

Name: Ian McKenna

Supervisor: Dr. Rachel Churchill
Research supervisor, Academic Unit of Psychiatry
University of Bristol

Target Journal: The Cochrane Library

Regulations: Written to University guidelines

Word Count: Manuscript: 7,997
Appendices: 5,936
(Excluding references, tables, acknowledgments and dissemination statement)

---

1 See Appendix 7 for Dissemination plan and Authors Guidelines
Cover letter

The following review is written in accordance with the publication guidelines for the Cochrane Library using the Cochrane systematic review and meta-analysis software RevMan (see Appendix 7 for Authors publication guidelines). Therefore the writing style, font size, line spacing, headings and referencing format may deviate from the American Psychological Association 6th editions guidelines. In addition, the current thesis was produced by the RevMan software programme and is currently ready for peer review it is required by the Cochrane Collaboration to display a watermark stating FOR PREVIEW ONLY throughout the paper. Unfortunately, the watermark cannot be removed until the review is approved for publication. My apologies for any inconvenience caused.
Declaration

I certify that all material in this dissertation which is not my own work has been identified and properly attributed, and no material is included for which a degree has previously been conferred upon me.

Signed: .................................................. Date: .................................
Acknowledgements

To Dr Rachel Churchill for your patience, commitment and expertise throughout this process, your contributions and support were invaluable. I have learned a lot from working with you. To Vivien Hunot, Alan Bailey and, Alex Parker, sincere thanks for your flexibility and dedication, without your contributions the data extraction would not have been possible. To Chris Champion for your tirelessly efficient editorial contributions which never failed to alleviated. To Sarah Dawson I am extremely grateful for completing such comprehensive trial searches. To the Doctorate in Clinical Psychology staff from the Clinical Psychology program at the University of Exeter, for supporting me (especially Dr Anke Karl and Dr Nadja Krohnert), and facilitating this fantastic opportunity.

To my friends Paul Beckley, Claire Cullen, Ross Swetak, Rus Norton, Joe Lowenstein, Amy Savile, George Baines, Georgie Taylor, Colin Doran, Emmet McAdam, Lynn McAdam, and Joe Duffin for your endless words of encouragement and for believing in me. Thanks to the rest of the Dclin buddies for their words of wisdom when needed.

A special thanks to family Mom and Dad, Ciara, Eva, Thomas, Rohann, Alessandra and Arianna, and all the Grannies and Granddads for your love, support, unbreakable motivation, and prayers; you have all helped make this possible. To my beautiful Ann, for your patience, proof-reading, strength, humour, and for loving me through it all, I love you dearly.

Finally, to my brother Adam I owe it all you!
Dear reader,

Please see the file, McKennaI for the Abstract and Table of Contents. My apology for any inconvenience caused.

Dr Ian McKenna