Figure 1: The original process model for the MESH intervention.

The model depicts three phases of change in asthma self-care behavior: motivation, action, and maintenance. The dotted lines represent a feedback loop whereby uncertainty about action results in the motivational elements being revisited.
Illness understanding

Emotional factors

Importance and confidence

Decision to act

Action

Stay motivated

Manage setbacks